MONROE ECHO

G.B. :

Well, Harry may be the first to sign this thing, but I should get credit for having my name in front. Anyway, don't get poison ~~ing~~ when you run, and don't ~~to~~ trip too many kids, and try not to get shot, because no one could ever take your place. Best of Luck!

Bill (373-7564) Bond

P. S. How come Harry got to sign
it first? Why not me?!

JAMES MONROE

James Monroe High School Song

On the banks of the Rappahannock,
And the ancient King's Highway;
At the head of navigation
And the tide from the Chesapeake Bay,
Stands a city old and honored
May her shadows ne'er grow less;
And the jewel of that city
Is her High School, J. M. H. S.

(Chorus)

Hail, hail, to James Monroe
Our own beloved High;
Though her pathway may be rugged
We will leave her with a sigh;
In the years before us,
Her name we'll always bless;
For she's our foster mother,
Our beloved J. M. H. S.

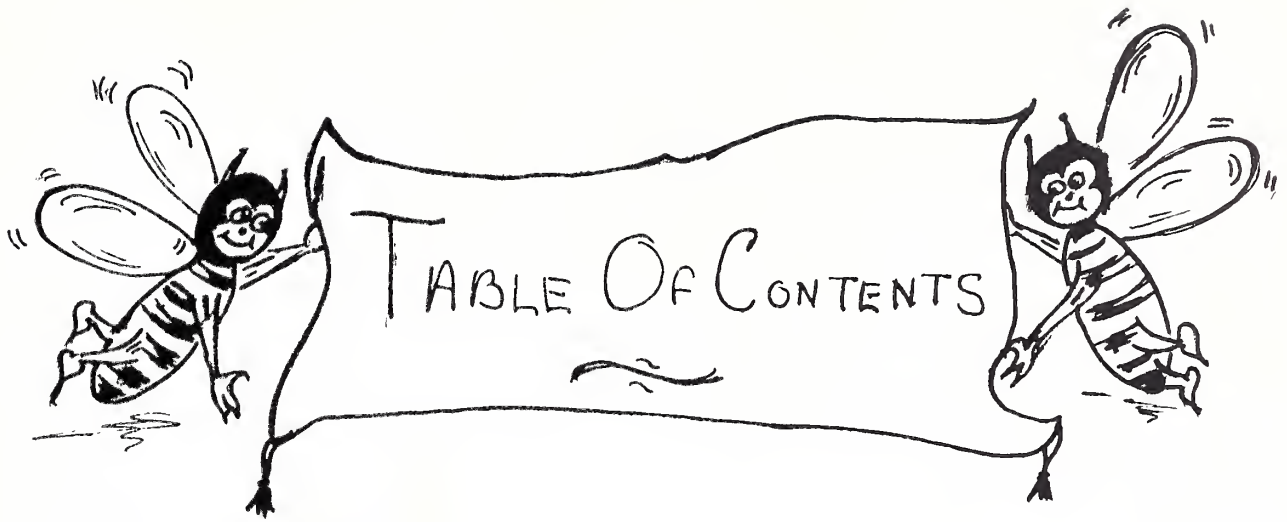

Four square to the winds of heaven,
Four square to truth and right;
May she stand four square forever,
'Gainst ignorance and strife.
May she ever bear with honor
And her sons and daughters bless,
Our beloved J. M. H. S.

The seal which appears on the cover of the MONROE ECHO is a presidential seal bearing a profile of James Monroe. On the reverse side of the authentic seal are the hands of an Indian and a soldier, and a peace pipe and a tomahawk which symbolize "Peace and Friendship."

The seals were first minted in silver when George Washington was President. With the incoming of each President, a new seal was made. Replicas are made in bronze by the United States Mint in Philadelphia and have been sought after as museum pieces. There is one in the James Monroe Memorial Library at the James Monroe Law Office.

Foreword

The MONROE ECHO is a symbol of the spirit and life at James Monroe High School. We have attempted to make this book a complete pictorial account of the many and varied activities at James Monroe. May it long represent the joyful and inspiring memories of 1967.

Dedication

As sponsor of the James Monroe yearbook for many years, she has given much of her time to the success of the annual. Also as a teacher, she has helped and advised the Class of '67 in its seeking and understanding of knowledge. In deep appreciation, the Senior Class of 1967 dedicates the MONROE ECHO to Mrs. Catherine Robey.

Class Poem

A LIFE OF OUR OWN

We were born into this river
Which has brought us to this bend
Where we must decide for ourselves
If this is the beginning or the end.

Our river will sometimes be cloudy
We will experience hardships and pain.
These turbulent waters will cause us to suffer
The river will be as gray as the rain.

But, the river will not always be troubled
After its anger had died,
The water will flow ever gently
Its color as blue as the sky.

We can sit by its side and daydream
We can dream for the rest of our lives.
But, the ships that pass are calling
Shall we go or dream 'til we die?

If we take the chance, we're given the chance
To create a life of our own.
We can seek happiness; we can seek love
We can prove to men we're grown.

The river is not always blue, nor forever gray
Shall we sit on the bank, forever to gaze,
Or will we take opportunity now,
To have real life for the rest of our days?

Class History

In the fall of 1955, the Class of '67 opened the doors of Lafayette, Maury, and Monfort and began its twelve year struggle. After six years of coloring books, hopscotch, and marbles, we took our place in the seventh grade as the "intellects" of Maury. Fights between the sexes turned into romances as the boys discovered that girls weren't as useless as they thought. This new "peaceful co-existence" was shown in the exchange of friendship rings and our many parties. Mr. Graham, the principal, however did not share our love of parties and asked us if we would mind studying a little as an extra curricular activity. We had a preview of high school life as we learned to change classes.

After a year of being on top, we took a quick plunge as we bumped into our first senior. But as the year progressed, we became accustomed to the high school routine of exams, term paper, and DR's. Our class officers were Janet Skinner, President; Margaret Moss, Vice-President; and Betty Deans, Secretary-Treasurer. Our enthusiastic school spirit brought good luck to our varsity basketball team as we cheered them on to win the State Championship. After school the gang headed for Scotty's. Some stayed for hours talking and drinking cokes, but others stayed only a very few minutes because of little disagreements with the manager. Right, Calvin, Kenny and Bernie?

But memories of the eighth grade wouldn't be complete without mentioning Mr. Mosha, our lovable Latin teacher. Four of his commandments were:

"Thou shalt speak only when spoken to."

"Thou shalt place thy homework on the throne."

"Thou shalt march out of the school during fire drills."

"Thou shalt not move thy desk from the line on the floor."

Failure to obey these commandments resulted in squares and flying yardsticks. Just ask Donna Morganstern and Anne King.

In our freshmen year, the stronger sex prevailed as we elected our class officers: Jim Savage, President; Corky Coble, Vice-President; and Steve Jarrell, Secretary-Treasurer. Between the gods and goddesses of Mrs. Pappandreou and the greening solution of Mr. Hodge, we put another year behind us in our climb to '67.

As sophomores, we elected John Rose, President; Mitchell Powell, Vice-President; and Michael White, Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. Yungman introduced us to the "Great White Whale." Classes were livened up a little as Florence and Mr. Yungman began their year long battle over what was rational and irrational. Spring brought excitement to the sophomore girls as they planned their big Sophomore dance. We thought the parties in the seventh grade were exciting, but they were nothing compared to the parties we began having in high school after a big dance. Right, Pat Lowe?

Our junior year, under a new principal, Mr. Hebert, was led by Mitchell Powell, President; Robert Chinn, Vice-President; Janet Skinner, Secretary; and Carole Waite, Treasurer. In the fall we ordered our rings and swamped Ulman's Jewelry Store when they arrived. In the spring, excitement mounted as we started working on the prom. Every day after school, dressed in dungarees, and sweat-shirts and covered with paint, we worked to create a "Lost Paradise." The volcano erupted in more than one way when Mr. Hebert saw the gym floor. In May we took our first college boards which made some of us realize that we weren't as smart as we thought. That summer some of our classmates went to Europe to sightsee and study? Janet Skinner and Nancy Embrey were chosen to attend Girls' State while Mitchell Powell, Tommy LaMonica and Jim Savage went to Boys' State.

In September 1966, we started our senior year—more exciting and fun-filled than we'd ever dreamed. We finally got our long awaited senior privileges. We strutted around the halls before school and into and out of assemblies. But our favorite privilege of all was breaking into the lunch line. Janet Skinner and Robert Chinn reigned over the Homecoming Court, and Margaret Moss was chosen to represent Fredericksburg in the Miss Virginia Contest in July. After a few weeks of school, Mr. Hebert presented us with a challenge that was to make our senior year the biggest and best in the history of J.M. If we could raise enough money, we could go not only to New York, but to Canada—to Expo '67. We elected Bernie Rowe, President; Jim Savage, Vice-President; Chip Worley, Secretary; and Carole Waite, Treasurer. We discovered hidden talent in our class as we worked to produce "The Amazing Abernathys" and "School Daze!". Not only did we have an Irish grandma who was afraid of lightning, but Otis Cody and the Soul Brothers, karate experts, and a born comedian. Right John Faulkner?

Bright and too early Wednesday morning, May 24th, we boarded three Trailways buses for our long anticipated senior trip. After singing, playing "games," and listening to records on the buses, we hit New York. Highlights of the big city were Radio City Music Hall, the Broadway play "Hello, Dolly," riding the subway, a bus tour around New York, a shopping spree at Macy's, and dinner at such restaurants as Mama Leone's and Tad's Teack House. At the Bitter End we saw Neil Diamond and Tom Poston. Several of us were caught in the "twilight zone" as an ESP expert astonished us by predicting futures and revealing facts about our lives known only to us. Those caught were Danny Labbe, Calvin Samuels, Steve Jarrell, Anne Johnson and Mr. Hodge.

After a long ride, we reached Montreal and Expo '67. Some of the boys almost didn't make it to the fair. They preferred to spend their time riding the elevator in the apartment. The "riders" were Tom LaMonica, Gary Whelan, and Robert Chinn.

Having seen exhibits from all over the world, ridden on the monorail, and eaten in the many exotic restaurants, we began our long trip home. Everyone had a good time, even the chaperones. Some will be eagerly awaiting next year's trip for another "educational" experience. You're going back, aren't you, Mr. Morris?

Of course everyone was all rested up by Monday morning, and we began exam review. Bermuda Day and Baccalaurette highlighted review week, and we braved our final exams.

At last it was Friday, June 9th. After twelve years of homework, tests, and teachers, we had reached the top. After speeches by our valedictorian, Carole Waite; our salutatorian, Peggy Wingard, and our principal, Mr. Hebert, and after a number of our classmates had received cups and scholarships, we received those long worked—for pieces of paper—our diplomas.

Some of us are going on to further our education; some are going to get jobs, and some are going to get married. But whatever we do and wherever we are, we will never forget all of our experiences as the Class of '67.

Last Will

We, the Senior Class of 1967 of James Monroe High School, being of hollow minds and sound bodies, do hereby establish this Last Will and Testament.

Donna Allen leaves her hula to Mr. Hodge.

Scene: A carnival somewhere near Fredericksburg, Virginia.

Place: Gypsy's tent.

Time: 1982.

The following action took place . . .

Gypsy: Can I help you, sir?

Customer: Could you help me locate the members of my senior class for our 15th reunion?

Gypsy: Well, let me look into my crystal ball . . .

Customer: Can you see anything?

Gypsy: It's blurred, but it's coming.

Customer: Say, isn't Ed Heck in motion pictures now?

Gypsy: Yes, I see him starring in a remake of "Alfie" with leading lady, Becky Davis. Movie critic, Shelia English, gave it a good review.

Customer: Is anybody else in show business?

Gypsy: Well, Karen O'Donnell and Steve Jarrell are both radio announcers, and Martha Bean is teaching dramatics. I see some other teachers. Debbie Andrews, Susan Nugent, and Alice Graube are teaching in foreign countries. Is there someone named Carol Belsky?

Customer: Yes, she was in my class.

Gypsy: Well, now she's in elementary teaching. Mary Kary Withers, Marla Shelton, and Karen Brauer are in elementary teaching in Hawaii. Susan Smith, Marie Lam, and Linda Hume are also elementary teachers in California.

Customer: What ever happened to Compton Currin?

Gypsy: I see her serving in the Peace Corps in Tanganykia. Barbara Myers and Karen Jackson are also in social work. Linda Sanders is a practical nurse.

Customer: I wonder if anyone else has gone into nursing.

Gypsy: The crystal ball shows Ellen Chasen and Idell Bundy in pediatrics. Also Kay Holcomb and Cindy Covert are nurses. Diane LeCouteur, Aleta Gallahan, and Jennie McAfee are Red Cross nurses. I see some doctors in your class.

Customer: Who?

Gypsy: It looks like John Rose. Yes, now he's tossing a scapel around with Florence Smoot. Was there a girl who liked animals in your class?

Customer: Kay Kendall!

Gypsy: Well, now she's a veterenarian. I see Mitchell Powell as a dentist, and Gale Bullock as a physical therapist.

Customer: Now I would like to know about some of the kids who were in the Advanced Biology class.

Gypsy: Nancy Embrey is an anthropologist. Donna Morganstern and Douglas Nelson are biologists. Terry Tucker, Carole Waite, and Elizabeth Harris are psychologists. Mike Cox and his technician Anne King are discovering new chemical elements from Billy Deyo's studies in paleontology.

Customer: I heard some people are living near Washington, D.C. How about them?

Gypsy: If you are planning a class reunion, you are going to have some trouble. There is a new C.I.A. scandal. Ricky Muzzy, Jimmy Prince, George Schremp, and Walter Beck are doing I.B.M. programming for the government. Mike Jacobs, Robert Talley and Peggy Wingard are working on the mathematical formulas for a new secret weapon. Somehow the information leaked out. Everyone at the C.I.A. office, including secretaries Norma Wilson, Sandy Varnick, and Nancy Thacker and even telephone operators Martha Morrison, Betty Lou Mitchell, and Jean Limbrick are being investigated. The investigation was started by Senators Kenneth Whitescarver and Randy McKann in conjunction with Governor Mike Greaser. It looks like the case might not be solved, but secret agents Pat Low, Barbara Cline, Mollie McCarthy, and Lowell Thompson are working on it. That rich lawyer with an Aston-Martin, Gary Nuckols, senior partner of the law frim Nuckols, Verberg, Rowe, and Savage is advising everyone to remain silent through his legal secretary, Sandi Stewart. Even store managers are aware of the scandal—Lee Lewis of Leggett's, Pat O'Connell of Sears,

Prophecy

Jimmy Otey of Safeway, and Mr. Christopher Mason Hallberg, manager of Gant shirts. The news has even reached professional bums, Corky Coble, Robert Chinn, David Castro and Cordy Sue Tafoya. All we ever hear about the government is scandal. Insurance agents Barry Payne, Ashby Staples, and Tommy Lee have even refused to sell insurance to government workers.

Customer: What's the armed forces doing about this?

Gypsy: Jack Simenson and Milo Miller are in the Air Force. Calvin Samuels is in the Marine Corps. James Watkins is in the Army, and Wade Kyle and George Hartnell are airline pilots.

Customer: With that capable group, we trust our country is in good hands. I need to know what happened to Anne Johnson, that girl who wanted to live in Rome with a multi-millionaire husband.

Gypsy: I see her appearing as a contestant on the Dating Game with M.C. Jimmy Franklin. Bachelor No. 1 is that rich banker Harrison Greenlaw. Bachelor No. 2 is Gary Whelan, head engineer for NASA, and Anne's date for the evening is Bachelor No. 3, auto mechanic, Ray Bailey. Also on the program was Chip Worley, now a civil engineer, who chose a date between bachelorettes Kathy Jones, paper-back writer, Brenda Weible, secretary, and Nancy Miller, telephone operator.

Karen Burrell, Mary Frances Patton, Greg Minor, and Jerry Shelton appeared on a revised Newlywed Game show that featured old married couples. The show is M.C. ed by John Faulkner, expert on marriage. Robin Spratt, Ronnie Baker, Malone Schooler are with the band on the Newlywed Game.

I see that some of the people in your class went to that city under the sea. The city was designed and built by architects Nicky Seay, Ray Dameron, and engineers Bobby Hartmaier and Tommy Riddle. Betty Deans, interior decorator, and Linda Hagy, artist, provided interior decorations for the main buildings. The finances are managed by

C.P.A.'s George Jett and Bill Raines. Michael White and Bill Tignor are owners of the Swim-In Bank, and Eric Kirschner is chief designer for underwater vehicles. Secretaries Pat Skinner, Donna Harris, Janet Roper, and Pat Northern, and business administrators Larry Green, Gilbert Cody, and Donna Colvin have been sent to the city.

Customer: What about underwater education?

Gypsy: There is Cod College with Robert Hall, Linda Billingsley, and Donna Allen in the Physical Education department; Pam Hawkins and Katherine Gouldman in the history department; the art department features Amy Nelson, and Brenda Heflin is in the Math department. Jennie Smith is a guidance counselor. Mr. Eugene Travis Michalec is head of the philosophy department.

Customer: What do they do for entertainment?

Gypsy: Well, the Baracuda Club is an underwater night club, owned by Billy Kain. His bartender is Fitz Johnson. The Mermaid waitresses are Connie Black, Linda Harrell, and Sandra Nash. The hat-check girl is Linda Tingler, and the cigarette girl is Linda Ayers. Margaret Moss and Debbie Weedon are the famous dancers—the sea—go nymphs. Appearing live on the stage is the star attraction, Rossie Snellings. In the audience is Danny Labbe, visiting coach of the Sea-Horses, the local football team, and Robert Kipps, visiting optometrist.

Customer: Can you tell me anything else?

Gypsy: Only that you are not going to pay me! Good day, sir!

Varsity Football

This year the Jackets had a fine season, climaxed by a 13-0 win over Orange in the final game of the season. This clinched a tie for first place in the Battle-field District; it was also Coach Jake Maynard's 100th victory at J.M. Tri-captains for the team were Robert Chinn, Chip Berry, and Ronnie Gosper.

Tennis

This is a racket.

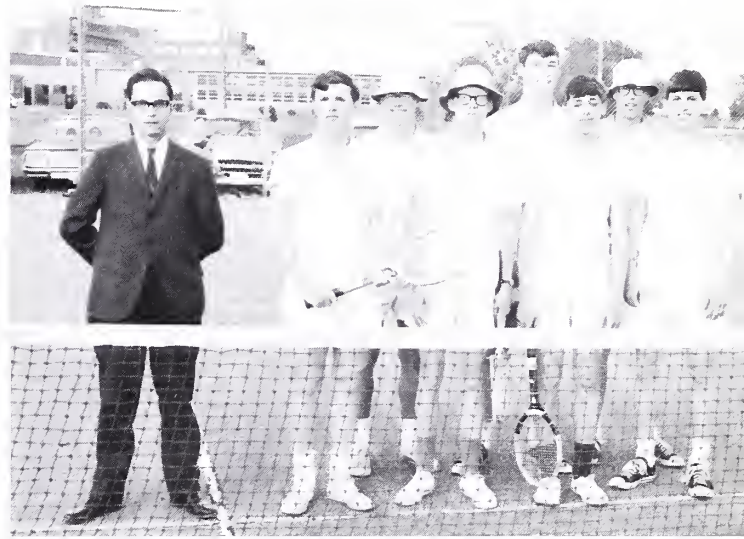

Are you ready, Bob?

Determination.

The James Monroe Tennis team showed much progress and enthusiasm this year. A relatively new sport at JM, tennis was coached by Mr. Freeman Funk and sponsored by Mr. Seldin. The team elected Steve Spratt as captain.

SCA

James Monroe's strength is found in its SCA. Every student is a member of this organization, the most important in the school. The SCA council is made up of 5 officers: president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and reporter, and representatives from each homeroom and each club. This year the SCA sponsored the annual magazine drive, provided about 50 Christmas baskets for needy area families, collected clothing for the underprivileged in Appalachia and created a new bulletin board system. Every assembly presented to the students during the year was arranged through the SCA by an assembly chairman. The SCA elections were held late in March to elect the leaders of James Monroe for 1967-1968.

"Any old business? Any new business? Any business?"

"If I am elected . . ."

"Where do we vote?"

"And if you don't vote for me . . ."

AFS Club

The American Field Service Club, in its second year, had as its main objective communication between the student body and our foreign exchange student. During the year, club members learned of the cultural aspects of Uruguay and other foreign countries of interest to them. Today, the AFS plaque, with the names of all past exchange students inscribed on it, is hanging in the library.

The National Honor Society is an organization consisting of sophomore, junior, and senior students who have excelled in their activities in high school. Members are selected by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. These individuals are then admitted to the Society in a special assembly during American Education Week. They must maintain a 90 average in their studies and show satisfactory marks in conduct and attitude at all times. This year the club was chosen to host the Northern Regional Convention which was held on April 1.

Key Club

The Key Club of James Monroe High School is part of an international organization designed to develop outstanding qualities of leadership in high school boys. It is composed of those sophomore, junior, and senior boys who excell in their school work and show outstanding achievements in their other activities. Through a continuous program of service to the school and community, the Key Club functions as one of the most active school organizations. Some of its many activities this year included: publishing a free basketball program, building the "Honda" rack, helping with the Kiwanis Talent Show, participating in the George Washington Birthday Parade, and buying and decorating the school Christmas tree. Members also cooperated with the Home Economics department in collecting Christmas gifts for the soldiers in Vietnam.

Throughout the year, members of the group participate in two district Forensics workshops, the school contest, the district contest, and the state meet if James Monroe has district winners. Mrs. Pappandreu directed the annual Forensics Play, which received a superior rating in the district contest in Nokesville and went on to the state contest in Charlottesville. By participating in Forensics, students gain valuable experience appearing before groups—speaking, reading and interpreting literature.

Debate

Debaters deep in research!

"And the most important thing to remember—win that debate!"

"Umm . . . He's got a point!"

Essentials to excellent debating are instant response to new situations, a mental encyclopedia of current events and a loyalty as fierce as in strenuous physical endeavors. Each member of the team spends many hours of research into all aspects of the topic. This year the subject for probing was "Resolved: That United States foreign aid should be limited to non-military assistance." In the basic contest, generally lasting an hour and a half, professors from Mary Washington College score points on skill in speaking, attacking, and recoiling during speeches, questions and rebuttals.

This year, however, various industrial arts students undertook the project of printing the paper, which was published every two weeks and sold by subscription. Columns most enjoyed by the students were the "Jacket Buzz," "The Shadow," and "Spotlight On."

The French Club is designed to teach conversational French. In order to develop fluency, the meetings are conducted in French. Through speeches, slides, and games, members learn about the culture and entertainment of the natives of France. The major project of the club this year was a Christmas party, including a play, carols and French pastries. The club also took a trip to Washington, D.C., where they saw La Contrescarpe, a traveling cabaret group, at George Washington University, and ate dinner in a French restaurant.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club is interested in promoting better understanding of the Spanish-speaking cultures through its meetings and projects. This year the Spanish Club had a car wash in the fall and a candy sale before Christmas to raise funds for a spring trip to Washington, D.C., to visit the Spanish Embassy, the Smithsonian Museum, and to have dinner in a Spanish restaurant.

During their study halls, the guidance assistants aid Mrs. Chick and other guidance counselors. Their duties include running errands, filing, alphabetizing, and sorting material. These girls make a definite contribution to the efficient operation of the guidance department. This year a new responsibility was given to the guidance assistant. A special classroom was set up to serve as a group guidance room, where students could meet in groups to discuss common problems. Some of the topics discussed in this program were scheduling, the importance of intelligence and ability tests, and the importance of maintaining a good high school record. College catalogues and vocational pamphlets were kept in this room for student reference. The guidance assistants were given the responsibility of maintaining this group guidance room.

Distributive Education is a vocational program designed for students over 14 years of age who are planning to enter the fields of retailing, wholesaling, and service industries. During school hours, students enroll in one or more D.E. classes in which they receive group instruction in general marketing and distribution. After school each day, the students work part time and receive on-the-job training in an occupation. Students work a minimum of 15 hours a week, the major portion of which is during the normal school day. The Distributive Education Club provides students with an opportunity to participate in group activities and compete with youth who have similar interests and career objectives. The students also have an opportunity to exchange ideas on the local, state, and national levels.

Band plays at King George Festival

This year was the Marching Yellow Jackets' twenty-eighth, and they appeared in over twenty-five performances all over the state. They placed second in competition at the Spotsylvania County Fair Parade and first at the King George Fall Festival Parade. For their participation in the Christmas Parade, they received a first-place rating, and placed second in high school bands in a George Washington's Birthday Parade in Alexandria. After traveling to Charlottesville for the Dogwood Festival, the band received three awards. The marching band and the majorettes placed second, the drum major and the feature twirler placed first. They also entertained at the Camp A.P. Hill Air Show and performed in the Warrenton Firemen's Parade. The majorettes have been rated fourth in the state. The concert band gave two excellent concerts this year and received three "excellent" ratings in the District Music Festival held at Tucker High School in Richmond. Thirteen members participated in the All-Regional Band held in Richmond.

The forty-five members gave two school assemblies, one being a Christmas program portraying the Christmas Story with scenery provided by the art classes. The chorus also sang for various clubs and churches, including The Kiwanis Club, The Fredericksburg Education Association, and the Fredericksburg Methodist Church. Chorus is completely voluntary, and there are no requirements for membership. Chorus members have not only gained experience in singing, but have learned to read and appreciate all kinds of music. One credit is received for chorus for the year.

Basilisk

The Basilisk was initiated to promote creative writing and to help interested students with their work by criticism. Staff members read and discussed material submitted by the students as well as their own writing, and they composed a literary magazine from chosen material. Many new ideas were gained. Meetings were conducted on an informal basis, and, unfortunately, included only a small number of students. As the Basilisk was in its first year, this is understandable, but it is hoped that the group will be enlarged next year.

The Amazing Abernathys

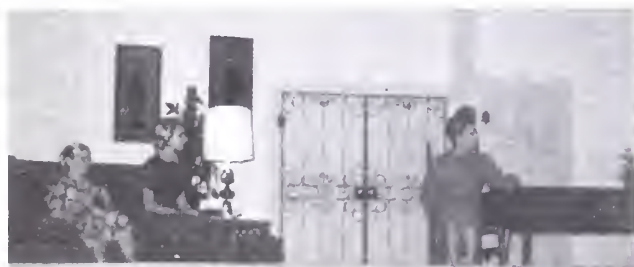

Last Minute Instructions

Charles and Eugenia

"I simply have to get a job, girls."

The Senior Class presented The Amazing Abernathys by James Reach on November 17 & 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. It was produced under the direction of Lee-Wingate Pappandreou.

The play was a comedy in three acts about a family, the Abernathys, during the Depression. It enacted the problems and joys of this fatherless family with their amusing, but practical, grandmother and how they pulled through these trying times.

"Moon Over Naples" was the theme of this year's Junior-Senior Prom. A trellis of white flowers surrounded the entrance as entering couples crossed a flowered bridge with ponds on each side. In the center of the gym stood a Roman statue with streamers of the moon falling about her. The Junior Class worked hard to make the prom the success it was.

On Wednesday, May 24, one hundred and twenty-two seniors and ten chaperons boarded three Trailway buses for an exciting trip to New York City and Montreal, Canada.

In New York, the seniors visited the United Nations Building, the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Chinatown, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and the Museum of Natural History. They also took a guided bus tour of the city and were entertained by performances at Radio City Music Hall, the Bitter End, and the Broadway play Hello Dolly.

At 8:30 a.m., Friday, May 26, the seniors and chaperons again boarded their buses to travel on to Montreal. There they spent the evening and all day Saturday visiting Expo 67. At 10:00 p.m., Saturday, they began the tiring trip home, arriving in Fredericksburg at 12:00 Sunday morning.

Senior Assembly

The Senior Assembly was held on May 23 with Bernie Rowe, President of the Senior Class, presiding. Donna Allen read the Class Poem, then, Betty Deans and Susan Smith gave the Class History. Scenes from the Senior Play and karate skit from the Variety Show were presented. Debbie Andrews, Carole Belsky, Chip Worley, and John Rose read the Last Will and Testament, and Cathy Ritchie, Sue Wiley, and Tommy LaMonica presented the prophecy in a fortune-telling act, John Rose, President of the SCA, presented a pair of silver candelabra to Mr. and Mrs. Hebert from the faculty and students in honor of the principle's two years at James Monore. Florence Smoot, editor of the Monroe Echo, dedicated the 1967 annual to Mrs. Robey. Alice Graube, Florence Smoot, Mitchell Powell, Robert Kipps, Gary Nuckols, and Gene Michalec gave each senior a small gift.

Graduation

On June 9, at eight o'clock, Graduation Exercises were held in the James Monroe Auditorium. Various awards and scholarships were presented, and the valedictorian and salutatorian gave speeches. Mr. Snead, the superintendent of the Fredericksburg City Schools, presented the diplomas to the one hundred and thirty-four seniors.

NOW WHAT?

Now that you have graduated you must answer the inevitable question—"now what?" For all of you it means the continuation of studies in one way or another, because learning must and will continue throughout your lives.

In the years to come you may have no more report cards or examinations, but everything you do will be judged realistically. Your preparation for every goal will be carefully watched, thoughtfully evaluated.

Your courses have given you the tools for thought and judgement. They will serve you well, whatever the future has in store for you.

Here at American Viscose we owe much of our progress to the adoption of new ideas, new improved methods and fresh approaches brought to us by young people like yourselves who never learned to stop learning.
